Parenting can be rough. We all are in the same boat, trying to navigate how best to raise our children. What a big responsibility! We, at MCS, want to encourage each of you in your journey with your family. What we know for certain is that the God who has created your kids and gifted them to you, would have much to say about the raising and leading of children. Below is a great resource offered through Right Now Media that Middletown Christian has gifted all of our families access to. Please search your inbox from earlier in the year for your personal invitation to set up your Right Now Media account, if you have not already.

Paul Tripp, in this recommended series entitled "Parenting", offers a Big Picture understanding from God's Word of what our ultimate purpose as parents is. We struggle daily with teaching our kids to be "good" and to follow the rules, but is that really the point? The real goal is to produce new Creatures in Jesus that love the Lord and pursue His righteousness. This pursuit will produce the by-product of obedience because of Jesus, not simply outward obedience with an unchanged heart.

In this series, you will be encouraged to shape your worldview of parenting on the Gospel in a climate of sharing our honest failures as parents to do good and guides us as parents to pursue Christ as the ONLY offer of real change in this life.

We encourage you to utilize all the resources available in the Right Now media link, which gives you unlimited access to videos on parenting, leadership, Bible studies, and videos for kids of all ages that entertain and point to the truth of Jesus.

Please note that neither MCS nor Grace Baptist Church endorse all content from RightNow Media; however, we believe it has many helpful resources for your family. To get the Paul Tripp series, "Parenting," please click here. To check out RightNow Media go to rightnowmedia.org.
